OUR GOAL

To build the essential nexus between exceptional stories and strategic production intent.

Our industry is one that lacks uniform processes. The process of bringing a film to life, from the writing to the distribution varies from one place to the next. We aim to eliminate this variety and streamline processes to establish a clear flow, from thought to fruition.

“My vision setting up C-Space was to enable a meritocracy, & to give young film-makers exposure. To create a space where people in this industry advanced solely based on their merit. Being an outsider to the industry, I know the value of a support system, & how hard it is to find one. I wanted a space dedicated to the creators of and the craft of film-making.

-Navdeep Pallapolu

Joining C-Space is becoming part of a network of creators, a symbiotic environment where all that's shared is a love for film-making. For an 'outsider' entering this industry seems like a daunting task. Our primary focus is to give these novice creators a foot-hold a launch-pad, an environment conducive to the creative process. We want to help the next generation of film-makers, to create history in our industry

-Pavan Goparaju

Setting out, our goal is to reintroduce our industry to quality content. Today, established players are content with making money off the back of sub-par content, we aim to challenge this paradigm, by establishing processes that will enable new talent to shine. Bringing awareness and change in our vision
